

Uncreative writing a diary

I speak English during my telephone English course and French during chatting with my French friends.
For some unaccountable reason, when I use a foreign language, my voice becomes high and flattering. I feel shameful for that and don't want anyone to hear my awkward voice.
Unfortunately, my apartment in Seoul has so thin walls that my neighbors can share the conversation. They may make fun of my voice.
I've heard that there is a sound proof workroom renting service for one person and it costs only 1 dollars for an hour.