Uncreative writing a diary

Chantal, a Dutch artist who I met during my internship with Bas, recommended me, the first things to become a famous artist is having a nice website to show others how competent I am. Maybe Instagram or Wix can be used, but they have too much limits to express my idea. So I learned how to use Github and using this, my website is under construction.