Uncreative writing a diary

To learn more about coding, some people advise me to have a coding class, while others just take look at how a website is written and imitate it for practice. I still hesitate.